

Thursday 11 April 2024

Contextualising the review of the Medical Certificate of Cause of Death (MCCD) NHS Education for Scotland are offering a free webinar, examining the review of the MCCD. This will be of interest to certifying doctors and those involved in supporting relatives after death. It will take place on Thursday 9 May, 12.30-1.30pm, and you can register here: Microsoft Virtual Events Powered by Teams

Supporting career development in Grampian – event for GP Trainees and ‘First 5’ GPs Please come along for a free to attend event with lunch provided - to hear examples of how your GP career can flourish in Grampian. We are keen to hear from you about how the Royal College of General Practitioners can support you during and after your training. Also, TIA or not TIA, that is the question – a talk from Sneh Banik, Consultant at Stroke Unit. You can register via this link: Event Overview \(site.com\)

Tissue viability team – April newsletter Find out what is going on with the tissue viability team in their April newsletter, available to read here: Tissue Viability Newsletter - April 2024 \(cloud.microsoft\)

Bike security Our sites may vary in size, but they are all easily accessed, and regrettably bike thefts do occur, most often at Foresterhill. Please ensure bikes are safely parked, in well-lit areas, and secured with an adequate lock. If you spot anyone or anything suspicious, report it to security teams (where present) or a senior manager. For those based at Foresterhill, we have bicycle lockers located around the campus. For details on how to apply for a locker, as well as further advice and information on cycling to work, and bike safety, please check out this intranet page (networked devices only).

Save energy at home – free workshops Home Energy Scotland are offering another of their popular free online workshops on saving energy at home. This will take place on Tuesday 30 April, 2-3pm and you can register via this link.

Tune of the day A dedication for a significant celebration to kick things off; the lovely Heather Smith (principal technician, ARI pharmacy) started working with us on this very day in 1974. For Heather, from all her colleagues, here's I'm Still Standing

Yesterday's request from Dougie Cameron has sparked a request in return from the Hospital@Home team. They are looking forward to welcoming you to their service and have asked for the appropriately named Teach Me How To Dougie by Caliswagdistrict (does contain some swear words, for info) (EP)

If you want to request a tune, follow up on items included in this brief, or suggest an item for sharing, drop us an email via gram.communications@nhs.scot